The Treatment of Children with ADHD

working with parents to improve treatment and care
... with Dr Margaret Thompson and Ms Cathy Laver-Bradbury

9:00am Registration and Refreshments
9:30am Welcome
4:45pm Close

Leeds Thursday 4th February 2010
London Thursday 15th April 2010

This one day workshop, developed for those working directly with parents, focuses on the underlying principles of effective treatment programmes for parents of children with ADHD (Attention Deficit Hypertension Disorder).

Our practical workshop will help you improve your understanding of ADHD and the development of the parent-child relationship. It also looks at how behaviour management, and increasing a child's attention span, can play a pivotal role in the child's future development.

The New Forest Parenting Programme (NFPP) will be under the spotlight as our expert speakers will guide you through the underlying principles of their programme and help you to see how their experience could benefit the development of your everyday practice.

By the end of the course you will have:

- An increased understanding of ADHD
- The tools to help improve the parent-child relationship
- Learnt about behaviour management and a child's attention and concentration
- Learnt about the NFPP and how you might translate this into your own practice

Who should attend:

- Psychiatrists and other medical practitioners
- Nurses
- Psychologists
- Teachers working in special schools

About our experts:

Dr Margaret Thompson, Honorary Consultant CAMHS, Southampton City PCT and Honorary Reader, School of Psychology, University of Southampton

Margaret participated in the development of the New Forest Parenting Programme which is aimed at parents of pre-school children with ADHD. She has published extensively on this and run accredited training programmes for therapists. She is currently working with New York University to evaluate her parenting programme with a grant from the National Institute of Mental Health, USA.

Ms Cathy Laver-Bradbury

Consultant Nurse, University of Southampton

Cathy specialises in ADHD for Southampton Community Healthcare. She is also seconded to Southampton University as Module Leader for the Advanced Clinical Pathway MSc in CAMHS. She helped develop the New Forest Parenting Programme and care pathways for children and their families with ADHD and is also working with New York University.
