The Medico Psychological Association had only one eponymous yearly lecture (The Maudsley Lecture) started in 1920. The R.M.P.A. had a further lecture (The Blake Marsh Lecture) started in 1967. Since the advent of the College there has been a marked increase in the number of lectures (there are now a total of 13). The first new College lecture was the Distinguished Guest Lecture which was started in 1970. There had however been occasional ‘Distinguished Speaker’ or ‘Guest Speaker’ at Annual Meetings before that date but these were ad hoc rather than a regular planned lecture. This online archive lists the lectures that have been given.

THE MAUDSLEY LECTURE

Dr Henry Maudsley, 1835–1918, MPA President 1871–72, by his will made a bequest to the Medico-Psychological Association (forerunner of the College) which provided the means for the institution of this lecture. The first Maudsley lecturer was Sir James Crichton Browne who spoke in July 1920 on the current state of psychiatry.

The Lecture is delivered annually at the autumn quarterly meeting by a distinguished psychiatrist or expert in a related field.

Details of council meetings are taken from the Council Minute Book for 1915–1923 and the report of the Committee on the Maudsley Lectureship from the Journal of Mental Science, volume LXV, 1919.

DISTINGUISHED GUEST LECTURE

This Lecture is given at the Annual meeting, except in a year when there is a change of President when the retiring President delivers a lecture. Speakers are eminent people in psychiatry or related areas.
E&F first discussed having a distinguished guest lecture in 1972 although there was an occasional 'distinguished speaker' or 'guest speaker' at the annual meeting before that date. There is no information in the annual reports regarding speakers from 1967 to 1971 and there are no surviving minutes of conference planning meetings.

WILLIAM SARGANT LECTURE

This annual lecture takes as its topic physical treatments in psychiatry (but not including psychotherapy). Dr William Sargant was recognised as an outstanding psychiatrist, who made an extremely valuable contribution to psychiatry, and the lecture is funded by his bequest. From 1999, this lecture has formed part of the annual conference of the Faculty of General and Community
Psychiatry, held jointly with the Collegiate Trainees Committee (CTC). The speaker is chosen by the Faculty Executive Committee.

THE FACULTY OF THE PSYCHIATRY OF OLD AGE AND THE ALZHEIMER'S SOCIETY LECTURE

This Lecture, to be given on the topic of mental health problems experienced in old age, was established in October 1998. The particular problems of dementia as an age-related disorder is recognised by collaboration with the Alzheimer’s Society (AS) and the Faculty. Speakers will be of international renown; the Faculty and the Society intend that an invitation to present the Lecture will become an honour recognised throughout international old age psychiatry. The length of the lecture will be 40-50 minutes.

THE KOLVIN LECTURE IN DEVELOPMENTAL PSYCHIATRY

The Faculty of Child and Adolescent Psychiatry has established the Kolvin Lecture in Developmental Psychiatry in honour of Professor Israel Kolvin who died in 2003 and who was a major figure in the College as well as in the field of child and adolescent psychiatry throughout his professional life. This lecture was previously known as the College Guest Lecture. The Faculty plans to invite lecturers who will maintain the overall theme of developmental psychiatry and encourage movement across traditional boundaries between different faculties and special interest groups within the College. The recommendation for speaker is ratified by the College Annual Meeting Organising Committee and the Programmes and Meetings Committee.
