Many thanks to Hwyl for permission to use the cover artwork. Hwyl is an art project run by Dementia Matters in Powys (DMiP) and Arts Alive Wales based at the Brecon War Memorial Hospital. The project focuses on working with elderly patients on hospital wards, with their families, carers, the ward staff and artists on a weekly basis.

Introduction to the appendices

This is the appendices for your local report. Your local report is in a separate document. The appendices present data from Round 3 of the National Audit of Dementia, both at a national level and for your hospital. Data for your hospital in Round 2 is also shown where applicable. When comparing Round 2 data with Round 3 data, please be aware that differences in sample sizes and slight wording changes to some questions, can affect results in both rounds. Therefore, conclusions made from comparing the data should be with caution. Hospitals with less than five returns for the carer or staff questionnaires have not received any data and returns of 5 to 9 questionnaires have not received demographic information. The table below shows how the data tables in the appendices are laid out and what information you can find in each cell.

Standard reference and type. Standards document can be found on the audit website .	Question number. Orange items in the casenote audit appendix show low inter-rater reliability.	Question wording as in tool.	The national audit refers to all hospitals from England and Wales that participated in the Round 3 audit.	Data for your hospital from Round 3.	If the same question or a similar question was asked in Round 2, we have provided your Round 2 response for comparison. The carer and staff questionnaires are new tools and therefore this column has been excluded in these appendices.
			We have provided the percentage 'yes' response (unless otherwise indicated) and the numerator/denominator. The denominator will change throughout the appendices, depending on whether questions were routed (not asked in some instances), 'N/A' responses were chosen (these have been excluded from the analyses), or where staff and carers did not respond.

For the organisational checklist, data from 199 hospitals are included in the national audit column (all the registered participants).

195 hospitals participated in the casenote audit, returning 10047 casenotes and this is shown in the national audit column. The national audit column for the casenote audit also shows the median and the inter quartile range for each question (where applicable). Question items which were found to have lower agreement in the inter-rater reliability analysis (see audit website) have been coloured orange.

196 hospitals returned carer questionnaires. Data from all questionnaires (4664) is presented in the carer questionnaire data tables in Appendix E.

198 hospitals returned staff questionnaires. Data from all questionnaires (14416) is presented in Appendix G. For some questionnaire items, the data for the two most positive answers have been combined, as well as being presented separately. This is provided both at a national level and for your hospital.

Appendix H: Staff suggestions for your hospital

The staff questionnaire included a question asking staff to make one suggestion on how their hospital could improve care and support provided to people with dementia. Below, all suggestions from staff at Arrowe Park Hospital are provided.

Registered Nurses (Band 5 or 6)
"This is me" documentation is not always filled out or made available. Needs to be done on admission/ with family asap. Other snacks would be useful - pork pies fish fingers, baked beans, trifles, cheese and crackers, sausage rolls.
Always more staff needed, too many jobs to do. Always need more staff to be able to sit and spend time with this type of patients.
Attempt to be made to help patients feel supported. For example, allowing visitors regularly, snacks and finger food made available. Find out patients' normal daily schedule and try to work round it. Extra staff when patients are aggressive or are likely to leave ward when not being watched.
By adopting the working model used on Ward 21.
By expanding the dementia nurse service, not diluting it.
Encourage relatives to complete "this is me" information booklets, senior managers to look at the acuity of the ward and not just the number of staff on duty, we have these numbers for a reason. Through years of audit we have finally reached a level of staffing that is at least adequate, I would not like to see these staffing numbers reduced as part of a cost improvement exercise.
Ensuring that "this is me" is completed as soon as possible when patient is admitted. Ensuring good hand overs are completed and patient needs are met.
Extra staff
Further specialist input on medical, surgical and assessment wards to support behavioural management and enhance understanding.
General wards are not very dementia friendly as the patient flow has a quick turnover and dementia patients are often confused even more by the many different faces.
Improvement in communication technique and increase in [low stimulus] environments. Improved skilled staffing levels to be able to deliver appropriate evidence-based care to patients.
Increased staff training. Better facilities to accommodate patients with dementia. More staff to support patients with dementia. The patients with dementia often require one to one staff however this is generally unobtainable in the current financial climate and there are often 3 or more patients who are restless and require closer supervision on the ward at any one time.
Maintain current staffing levels in areas of the hospital that have a high acuity of patients with dementia and provide specials for patients that require them.
Maintain staffing levels.
More information and ways to look after patient with dementia on intranet. More e-training on the intranet.
More staff in the general hospital could improve their understanding of dementia and the care they need.
Ours is a very good ward for the care of older people including dementia care. Maybe other wards, areas would benefit from more training.
Should be a specific ward for dementia patients, with easy access to support and help for discharge planning. General wards not a good place to care for them if not acutely ill.

Registered Nurses (Band 5 or 6)

The care on department of medicine for the elderly (DME) wards is excellent however I feel that further improvement of the care of patients with dementia for acute medical and acute surgical wards is needed. This would help to maintain the same standards as on the DME wards and make the overall care excellent.

There are a couple of wards in this country for elderly mental health, where those mostly medically fit interact together in an environment less structured than a typical ward. Higher staffing levels would increase ability to support nutritional needs.

To allow time to meet individual's needs.

To learn from the families of patients who have dementia what we could do to help their relatives, hospital is a strange environment for anyone but very lonely if you have dementia and away from your familiar surroundings. Pictures of things that are familiar could help -objects which they could still relate to. It is important to ensure that staff are aware about eating habits and are able to cater for the patients' needs. The dietician is always welcome with input to ensure drinks to help the patient with dementia who has forgotten how to feed themselves.

To make the ward more dementia friendly i.e. soothing colours, music.

To work harder to help them be discharged quicker back to their normal environment.

Volunteers would be a great help to our patients, especially for those who have no family. Working on a busy ward restricts the time we would like/ need to spend with our dementia patients. Volunteers with experience with dementia patients/ carers would be great. They could play games, take them to our purpose reminiscence rooms.

Registered Nurses (Band 7 or above)

1) More staff to assist and monitor dementia patients' dietary intake at mealtimes. 2) More staff to cope with the behavioural issues and violent behaviour that occurs towards staff and other patients in a care setting that deals predominantly with elderly patients who have dementia.

Additional staffing for 1:1 care when appropriate, wider choice of finger foods, improved access to iPads to access reminiscence therapy with patients, dementia support team across 7 days, less clinical environment (i.e.: all bay furnishings are ordered in mandatory colours - NHS white and blue).

Bed bureau/ management need to stop moving dementia patients to other wards overnight due to bed pressures.

By increasing the number of nursing staff.

Ensure that there is adequate staffing to enable patients to feel supported and safe. We purchase sweets, chocolate, crisps, soup, bread and nice pudding to ensure that we have some 'extra' items to offer patients. The hospital does not provide adequate nutrition for patients with dementia.

Finger food, availability of more dementia friendly snacks. Nutritionally it would be ideal at times if there was access to food they may enjoy - families will often bring in items that they know they enjoy but for those who don't have accessible family etc., it is difficult to often obtain something different that they may prefer.

Have more dementia nurses as their support is amazing.

More dementia nurses that link in with community services to support transition from hospital to community. Help support the family, share up to date relevant information. Families love the role and it will prevent hospital admissions.

More dementia trained nurses who can work on a one to one with a client.

More volunteers or health care assistants on wards.

Registered Nurses (Band 7 or above)

Provide better training to nurses and assistants to give them a better understanding and ensure they are more patient when providing care.

Through the launch of John's campaign which is underway, prioritising in the emergency department when appropriate and a dedicated quiet area accessible at all times in the emergency department.

Healthcare Assistants

Activities for patients with dementia.

By providing safe staffing level, especially [at] night.

Definitely more HCAs because its great having memory room, bar, hairdressers etc. They are not being used because we are told not enough staff on ward so these rooms might as well not exist maybe someone should come and monitor these. Rooms see how often they're used - these rooms are making it into newspapers but they are not being used. Listen to us nurses.

I feel that staff don't have enough time to sit down and talk to the patients, so that may leave the patient feeling like we don't care.

If we had more staff, I feel that we would have more time to interact with patients, especially if they become challenging.

Improve the staffing ratio.

More staff on wards would help as sometimes there is only ever two HCAs on a ward. We have a dementia cafe but cannot get anyone to it as we do not have the staff. Possibly do menu on the day rather than the day before as people often forget what they order.

More staff, more activities, more training.

More staff. We need to spend time with people with dementia, we need to go at a slower rate to explain to them. Short staffed this never happens.

More study days, more helpers or paid workers who have the time to talk to them and walk around to calm them when they get stressed and upset. Also, if family are/ can help, get them to do so. This would be better for patients to see a face they know or remember.

More training could be made available to all grades of staff on a both practical and theory based [level].

More training courses. More staff on ward. More things for patient to do instead of looking at four walls. Should ask families to come in more often to help feeding. RGN's could help out a bit more with feeding and giving drinks. And keep to protected mealtimes.

More training, both theory and practice.

People with dementia should have one to one care. Not put in a bay with other dementia patients and one carer looking after them all - this does happen often.

We have a very good ward, the best, but others need more training.

We need volunteers to help at mealtimes as staffing is often inadequate most of the time and I feel our patients would want to eat more if they had social interaction whilst eating. Maybe a dining table to accommodate 6 or more people.

Doctors

Admission avoidance/ crisis beds in the community so that they don't need to be admitted in the first place.

Better staff to patient ratio. More reliable access to 1:1 specialing. More time to spend with direct patient care.

Have more staff available to provide increased support to patients.

John's Campaign - letting carers be present for ward round, open visiting hours & partake in care if they wish. Easy access to old age community mental health records - to find out what the diagnosis is, current medication, any follow up, if they have a community psychiatric nurse or community team, pre-admission function & manner.

Making sure consent involves relatives' views.

Many patients with dementia are in hospital because they are waiting for care packages or changes to their care arrangements - this is probably outside the control of the hospital - but timely access to appropriate social arrangements for these patients would improve their care. Minimising bed moves for those with dementia to avoid disorientation. Many nursing staff tell me they have not received training in the mental capacity act. This is fundamental for caring for patients who may not have capacity.

More healthcare assistants to encourage and assist oral intake and drug administration, allied health professionals trained in de-escalating challenging behaviour.

More staff on ward to interact/care for patients with dementia.

Need to establish an Onco-Geriatric/ Dementia service (seems to be little support for the same) in conjunction with Surgeons to deal with complex problems as most patients with dementia are the elderly group which is increasing in numbers due to increased life expectancy.

Raise awareness of memory clinic/ how to refer/ how to use etc.

Reducing the bed moves and prioritising patients' mental health needs over bed pressures. Providing better access to senior psychiatric medics for patients who are difficult to treat. More focused wards with the opportunity to allow patients to wander in a safe enclosed environment.

Regular visits from psychiatrists, irregular follow up normally.

Stop moving patients around the hospital after admission.

To reinstate the funding for dementia nurse to support wards. This will not only improve patients care but will also expedite the discharge with timely support and advice.

With suspected new diagnosis of dementia, there is no inpatient service if we would like to refer, they get seen post discharge.

Other / Unknown

There is a need for sufficient staff so that patients can have someone with them when required, to reassure and to go for a walk. As a volunteer, I often take over from a staff member so that they can have some time "away".
