Many thanks to Hwyl for permission to use the cover artwork. Hwyl is an art project run by Dementia Matters in Powys (DMiP) and Arts Alive Wales based at the Brecon War Memorial Hospital. The project focuses on working with elderly patients on hospital wards, with their families, carers, the ward staff and artists on a weekly basis.

Introduction to the appendices

This is the appendices for your local report. Your local report is in a separate document. The appendices present data from Round 3 of the National Audit of Dementia, both at a national level and for your hospital. Data for your hospital in Round 2 is also shown where applicable. When comparing Round 2 data with Round 3 data, please be aware that differences in sample sizes and slight wording changes to some questions, can affect results in both rounds. Therefore, conclusions made from comparing the data should be with caution. Hospitals with less than five returns for the carer or staff questionnaires have not received any data and returns of 5 to 9 questionnaires have not received demographic information. The table below shows how the data tables in the appendices are laid out and what information you can find in each cell.

Standard reference and type. Standards document can be found on the audit website .	Question number. Orange items in the casenote audit appendix show low inter-rater reliability.	Question wording as in tool.	The national audit refers to all hospitals from England and Wales that participated in the Round 3 audit.	Data for your hospital from Round 3.	If the same question or a similar question was asked in Round 2, we have provided your Round 2 response for comparison. The carer and staff questionnaires are new tools and therefore this column has been excluded in these appendices.
			We have provided the percentage 'yes' response (unless otherwise indicated) and the numerator/denominator. The denominator will change throughout the appendices, depending on whether questions were routed (not asked in some instances), 'N/A' responses were chosen (these have been excluded from the analyses), or where staff and carers did not respond.

For the organisational checklist, data from 199 hospitals are included in the national audit column (all the registered participants).

195 hospitals participated in the casenote audit, returning 10047 casenotes and this is shown in the national audit column. The national audit column for the casenote audit also shows the median and the inter quartile range for each question (where applicable). Question items which were found to have lower agreement in the inter-rater reliability analysis (see audit website) have been coloured orange.

196 hospitals returned carer questionnaires. Data from all questionnaires (4664) is presented in the carer questionnaire data tables in Appendix E.

198 hospitals returned staff questionnaires. Data from all questionnaires (14416) is presented in Appendix G. For some questionnaire items, the data for the two most positive answers have been combined, as well as being presented separately. This is provided both at a national level and for your hospital.

Appendix H: Staff suggestions for your hospital

The staff questionnaire included a question asking staff to make one suggestion on how their hospital could improve care and support provided to people with dementia. Below, all suggestions from staff at Stepping Hill Hospital are provided.

Registered Nurses (Band 5 or 6)

Give breakaway training for ALL staff associated with dementia patients across the trust, there have been an increase in staff related assaults from dementia patients with challenging behaviour. It is appalling that this is not a priority.

I work nights and it really upsets me when they move dementia patients between wards overnight. We can be told that a patient we are receiving with known dementia is settled and doesn't wander or climb out of bed, only to find that shortly after the transfer they become aggressive, wandersome and at greater risk of falls. Therefore, staffing levels become inadequate.

More rapid assessment interface and discharge workers.

More regular updates for the dementia link nurses to cascade down to staff on the wards. More information on the dementia page as well.

More staff and training.

More staff! More rapid assessment interface and discharge team available, more often, and after 5pm. Hot soup available late evenings would be good, especially for those patients admitted to the ward at this sort of time.

Need to have more 1:1 care so patients can mobilise and not to be told to sit down all the time.

Not accepting all the patients with dementia in the same two wards. Too many dementia people gives the nurses too much work and it affects the care of the other patients.

Providing more staff for the ward. Sometimes it's not enough with the normal staff.

Regular dementia training [for] all staff who deal with dementia patients through workshop/ study day.

Some patients need more help/ support - extra staff needed for this most of the time.

Registered Nurses (Band 7 or above)

Give more resources for play interaction in the therapy/ reminiscence room. Staffing sometimes restricts the time an individual needs to create a therapeutic relationship.

It would be beneficial for all staff to have proper training on how to look after [and] care [for] dementia patients.

It would be nice to have volunteer workers who could be available to spend time with patients as and when required, from an agency or bank. That way ward staff or senior nurses could delegate supervision so that ward nurses can give nursing care to those in need without the continual feeling that they are neglecting one or the other.

More open communication with carers and health professionals already involved in that patient's care, around needs. Expansion of our rapid assessment interface and discharge service to cover all wards.

More staff available to meet individual need.

Not move patients with dementia from ward to ward.

One to one support when required.

Registered Nurses (Band 7 or above)

To provide a multi-agency specialist ward with both registered mental health nurses and registered nurses to manage acutely ill patients with dementia.

Using cognitive impairment pain assessment scale to assess pain in dementia patients.

Healthcare Assistants

Caring for people with dementia on appropriate wards/ units. When this is not possible, extra staff provided to assist in their care not moved to cover staff shortfalls on other wards.

Making sure "this is me" form is filled in.

More leaflets and information on the ward.

More one to one for dementia patients who need more support.

More staff in areas which have lots of dementia patients.

More staff would be a big help.

Most of the patients that come into hospital with dementia, stay in longer than usual and then this impacts on their state of mind. [They] need familiar things around them - this helps them to be calm and [they are] more likely not to get agitated and upset.

Provide essential training to staff and spend more time with dementia patients.

The ward does have a mental health team (RAID) who come in and chat and interact with dementia patients however, I think there could be more support for these patients as a lot of the time the patients are sat around looking a lot and nurses are busy and don't always have the time to sit and interact with dementia patients who are probably more vulnerable than other patients who can do things for themselves. If the RAID team don't have the staff to come to see patients as often, maybe volunteers could be trained up.

Doctors

In my view reliance on mental health liaison team has worsened the situation significantly as this has resulted in a referral culture with low thresholds which adds no net value to the patients care and only results in spot, one off reviews, which does not give a reasonable perspective on the patient. [The reviews are] undertaken by nurses with limited experience compared to many geriatricians with the inevitable documentation being a standard script and diagnosis being delirium. The only outcome is patients staying longer with hospital acquired infections and losing the little skills they have and social services using this service as a means of delaying the discharge. Solution: Ward staff should be made competent as dementia is ubiquitous and the ward multidisciplinary team is best placed to decide on the next steps with the family involved and should minimise the paternalistic approach we have at present. Mental health team should be involved as an outpatient for ongoing care and support and not in hospitalised settings unless significant and serious behavioural issues and/ or depression which needs addressing. Sorry about the rant...but feel strongly about the present situation in which we are letting the patients down.

Role-appropriate dementia training.

Allied Healthcare Professionals

Increase nursing staff levels.

Increased staffing. More appropriate ward environments i.e. open, observable.

More clear "This is me" information.

More consistent staffing/ familiar faces (especially if a patient is on 1:1 supervision).

More staff provided easily and quickly to support staff on wards if a patient needs 1:1 support.

More time. Safe plan [for patients] to walk around and just be.

Open visiting on all wards for carers who know the patients best to support them. Visible extra information above their bed/ clear in their notes on how to best support them and their likes/ dislikes.

Specialist elderly mental infirm (EMI) ward for patients with dementia, with highly trained specialist nursing staff. Consultants should come to the dementia ward, rather than the patients with dementia being placed on wards with non-dementia patients. This would allow focusing of strategies to enhance quality of life and meet nutritional requirements.

When somebody is admitted with dementia from a care home or own home with carers, get them back to that environment as soon as possible to limit the unfamiliar ward stay which can cause more long term problems and increase length of stay.

Students

It would be better if the hospital budget allowed for more 'specialing' or '1:1'. On a busy unit, patients with dementia might not receive the attention and reassurance they need.
