Introduction to the appendices

This is the appendices for your local report. Your local report is in a separate document. The appendices present data from Round 3 of the National Audit of Dementia, both at a national level and for your hospital. Data for your hospital in Round 2 is also shown where applicable. When comparing Round 2 data with Round 3 data, please be aware that differences in sample sizes and slight wording changes to some questions, can affect results in both rounds. Therefore, conclusions made from comparing the data should be with caution. Hospitals with less than five returns for the carer or staff questionnaires have not received any data and returns of 5 to 9 questionnaires have not received demographic information. The table below shows how the data tables in the appendices are laid out and what information you can find in each cell.

Standard reference and type. Standards document can be found on the audit website .	Question number. Orange items in the casenote audit appendix show low inter-rater reliability.	Question wording as in tool.	The national audit refers to all hospitals from England and Wales that participated in the Round 3 audit.	Data for your hospital from Round 3.	If the same question or a similar question was asked in Round 2, we have provided your Round 2 response for comparison. The carer and staff questionnaires are new tools and therefore this column has been excluded in these appendices.
			We have provided the percentage 'yes' response (unless otherwise indicated) and the numerator/denominator. The denominator will change throughout the appendices, depending on whether questions were routed (not asked in some instances), 'N/A' responses were chosen (these have been excluded from the analyses), or where staff and carers did not respond.

For the organisational checklist, data from 199 hospitals are included in the national audit column (all the registered participants).

195 hospitals participated in the casenote audit, returning 10047 casenotes and this is shown in the national audit column. The national audit column for the casenote audit also shows the median and the inter quartile range for each question (where applicable). Question items which were found to have lower agreement in the inter-rater reliability analysis (see audit website) have been coloured orange.

196 hospitals returned carer questionnaires. Data from all questionnaires (4664) is presented in the carer questionnaire data tables in Appendix E.

198 hospitals returned staff questionnaires. Data from all questionnaires (14416) is presented in Appendix G. For some questionnaire items, the data for the two most positive answers have been combined, as well as being presented separately. This is provided both at a national level and for your hospital.

Appendix H: Staff suggestions for your hospital

The staff questionnaire included a question asking staff to make one suggestion on how their hospital could improve care and support provided to people with dementia. Below, all suggestions from staff at Warrington Hospital are provided.

Registered Nurses (Band 5 or 6)

By keeping our nursing assistant whenever possible to help with all aspects of care and nutritional needs. It becomes difficult when a person with dementia needs attention but you also have a poorly patient with a lot of IVs running. By keeping our carer, it helps with the potential 1 to 1 situation.

Carers encouraged to come in at mealtimes to help with meals as dependency is high. A full-time activities (9am - 5pm) programme would be useful. I have read research that suggests patients are calmer in the evening (less sundowners syndrome) if they have had a fulfilling day. People with dementia need to feel useful and engaged (like all of us) I think staff ratios should be higher till patients are asleep. Staff to patient ratios with dementia patients should be higher so the increased psychological needs of these patients can be met. When there are less staff, patients' distress is allowed to escalate and this can result in a fall or the patient becoming angry/ frightened and when staff then become available to help the patient has reached the point where they become violent. There is not always extra healthcare assistants available for 1:1 [care for] patients who are unaware of their mobility problems who like to wander all day (needing supervision). This can end in falls despite best will of nurses on duty. Is it possible that the cost of an extra HCA is less than the cost of ensuring extended stay in hospital of a patient who sustains a fracture from a fall (of course the ethical implications are there also). Financially also, the 1:1 can ensure adequate hydration which means extra subcutaneous fluids are not required and UTIs are avoided.

Dementia ward is needed for them – unfortunately, [are] being looked after in acute medical ward.

Ensure patients are admitted with a "This is Me" booklet.

Have more areas like the specially designed dementia unit.

Increase in staffing levels.

More beds on dementia (forget me not) ward.

More training. More staff needed on the dementia unit so time can be spent with the patients. More staff needed to help with meals.

Person-centred activities.

Staffing increase.

This hospital has a ward that is adapted especially for people with dementia who are hospitalised - I have had cause to see this from a personal perspective. I am very impressed with the way my hospital has embraced the challenges associated with dementia and the very different way it works from other wards that are not dementia focussed.

Working on coronary care unit, we don't always have our carer on duty due to the carer being moved onto another ward, due to the patient demand. I feel the hospital is short staffed with carers throughout and if we were able to keep our carer, our patient care for dementia patients wouldn't suffer. Sometimes as registered nurses, we are busy doing medications, routine observations and patient care.

Registered Nurses (Band 7 or above)

Healthcare Assistants

A bigger forget me not ward, or more staff to be able to meet their needs, as some are very complex patients with specific 1 to 1 needs which I feel do not get met here.

For activities on a daily basis, instead of a couple times a week.

Give more staff so that dementia patients can have more time (as their processes are slower).

Having more wards like the forget me not ward at Warrington Hospital.

I think a class-based session would be good so you could do role play as I think you actually learn more and get better experience.

Increased staff to allow time to find out about patients likes, interests etc. and to support these by filling in the "This is Me" documentation. Additional training on mental health issues and dementia would be useful.

More hands-on training, more frequently.

More staff and more training.

More staff and support dementia team. I think patients need more activities on ward.

More staff, more time to spend with patients.

More staff. There is insufficient time to spend with each patient due to low staffing levels.

More training.

Staffing is a really big issue, so [there is] much more we could do with our patients but not enough staff to carry it out, shame.

The dementia unit should mainly be used for patients who would benefit from activities and other things that we have to offer. It shouldn't just be aggressive and one to one patients, although there should be a good mixture. We have a dementia unit, specifically for dementia patients, but it is not used in the way that it was designed. We are not trained for handling aggressive patient's and if we have to call security they ask what we want them to do, and do don't do anything.

Doctors

Allied Healthcare Professionals

Encourage completion of the "this is me" document. Update the "forget me not" sign on each admission. Accept patients who require the "forget me not" ward even when medically fit as those patients still have a need for specialist multidisciplinary care/ approach.

Students

More staff.

Therapy Assistants & Allied Healthcare Professional Assistants

I think [training] should be mandatory for all ward based staff.

Training on the subject for newer members of staff.

Ward-based Administrators
