

5 | Involvement

Everyone shares responsibility for the environment

Does everyone have a role?

Do they feel they are part of something, helping themselves but also making a contribution to others and to the service.

This is about everyone supporting each other to make things work, especially peer support, and having responsibilities; for themselves, towards other people, and in the space around them, which benefits both the individual and the whole environment.

How do you do this in your service?

