Want to find out more about becoming a psychiatrist? Our downloadable guide Be the brightest | Be the best contains all you need to know if you are considering a career in psychiatry, including information about each specialty and how to train.

A supplementary guide to pursuing a career in psychiatry in Scotland is currently in development and will be available shortly.

With psychiatry it’s the faces I’m most interested in. Psychiatry encourages you to look at people as individuals, look at their life history and what brought them to you. In other medical fields – you just don’t get that personal touch, results are more interminable.

Alex Beadel
Core Psychiatry Trainee
NHS Dumfries & Galloway
Since I switched over to psychiatry, I have felt that I have, along with the ability to treat physical health of my patients, developed skills to treat their mental health which I find very satisfying... I get to spend quality time with my patients and am able to assist them through some of the most difficult periods of their lives.

ST4
NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde

A career in psychiatry provides an opportunity to form meaningful therapeutic relationships with patients and their families.

Welcome: Royal College of Psychiatrists in Scotland

The Choose Psychiatry in Scotland (CPS) campaign aims to promote the specialty across the nation, by engaging with the profession and those considering entering the medical psychiatric workforce.

By connecting with medical students, foundation doctors, trainees and consultants alike, we can showcase this medical field to encourage and support our next generation of clinicians.

The campaign is being run by the Royal College of Psychiatrists in Scotland (RCPsych) which opened in 1994. We are a Devolved Nation and Council of the Royal College of Psychiatrists (RCPsych), and have over 1,400 Members, Fellows, Affiliates and Pre-Membership Trainees in Scotland.

RCPsych is the professional medical body responsible for supporting psychiatrists throughout their careers, from their traineeship through to retirement.

As the professional medical body for psychiatry in Scotland, we set standards and promote excellence in psychiatry and mental healthcare.

We lead, represent and support psychiatrists nationally to government and other agencies, aiming to improve the outcomes of people with mental illness, and the mental health of individuals, their families, and communities.
If you are interested in psychiatry as a career, or even if you’re just curious, becoming a Student Associate or Foundation Doctor Associate of the Royal College of Psychiatrists is a great way to discover more about the specialty. It’s FREE and comes with a range of benefits.
